

Woodward & Lothrop

New York—WASHINGTON—Paris

An Important Remnant Day

WE have cleaned out our stock in all the various lines and assembled the remnants for quick selling to-day.

Some are soiled or mussed, or otherwise imperfect. Some are just odds and ends, short lengths or broken sizes, or incomplete lines, and are as good as they ever were. Some are reduced half; some not so much; some more. Every department in the house is represented.

NOTE.—In many instances there are only one or two articles or pieces, and we do not advertise these, because they are generally sold early, and late comers are disappointed. There are hundreds of such things usually, and they constitute some of the best bargains, but they are secured, of course, by first comers.

Friday Bargain in Little Children's Coats.

We have secured and offer a lot of Little Children's "Sample" Coats, in handsome one-of-a-kind styles, at 1-4 to 1-3 Less Than Regular Prices.

They are all high-class goods, made in pretty and becoming baby styles, of fine serges and broadcloths, in white, light blue, tan, and gray. The collars are trimmed with fancy braids and velvet and finished with hand-embroidered scallops; some have belts. The collection as a whole is a very attractive one, and offers the mother an excellent opportunity to secure a handsome Easter Coat for her little one at a very decided saving.

$7.50 each. Were $10 and $12.
$10.00 each. Were $15 and $18.

IN THE SOCIAL WORLD

Baron von Hengelmüller Is Guest of Vanderbilts.

MANY WEDDINGS ANNOUNCED

Misses Christine and Margaret Roosevelt detained in New York to Assist Brides of Coming Easter Week—Americans to Be Presented at Court and Vatican in Rome.

The Austro-Hungarian Ambassador, Baron von Hengelmüller, will not sail for Europe on the date first reported, but will pass the Easter holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt at Biltmore, and later in the summer will join Baroness Hengelmüller at their estates in Hungary. Despite the fact that the name of Hengelmüller von Hengervar is one of the oldest among the Hungarian noblesse, it is only that the Ambassador was invested with the title of baron, as an evidence of the confidence and good will of the Emperor, who has taken many occasions to express his satisfaction with the present Austro-Hungary envoy to this country.

Mr. and Mrs. Chermon, of the Brazilian Embassy, left to-day for Atlantic City to pass the Easter holidays. They were accompanied by Mrs. Chermon's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Roberts, of Baltimore.

Mme. Cortes, wife of the Colombian Minister, and Mme. Guzman, of the Colombian Legation, are also guests at Atlantic City for the Easter season.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Robinson and Miss Corinne Robinson are in Rome, where they will be presented at the Italian Court as well as at the Vatican. The American Ambassador and Mrs. Griscom will give a large dinner for them Easter week.

Mr. Paul Doumer, at one time president of the French Chamber of Deputies, is on his way to this country to visit the former American Ambassador to France, Mr. McPherson. He will be one of the distinguished guests at the inauguration of the Carnegie Institute at Pittsburgh.

The Misses Christine and Margaret Roosevelt, who were to have visited their grandmother, Mrs. Kean, during the Easter holidays, have been detained in New York by the number of weddings that will take place during Easter week at which they have been invited to assist, and their visit to Washington is therefore indefinitely postponed. Miss Kean will entertain a small party at dinner on Monday night, and will afterward accompany her guests to Mrs. Wadsworth's ball, which will be the most interesting of next week's festivities.

The dinner for which Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lee have issued invitations on April 9 is in honor of the British Ambassador and Mrs. Bryce.

The Postmaster General and Mrs. Meyer will move into the Jewett house, Connecticut avenue and S street, which they have leased for a number of years, on the 1st of May.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nelson Page returned Wednesday from the South, but left immediately for New York, where they will remain until Saturday.

Mrs. Totten and her daughter, Miss Edith Totten, will sail for Europe April 13, to pass the summer abroad.

Miss Lota Robinson, who visited Mrs. John R. McLean the past winter, is spending March in New York. She will go to Annapolis the first week in April to visit Mrs. Richard Morton at her country home.

Mrs. B. H. Warder is in New York visiting her daughter, Mrs. Franklin Ellis.

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Sis announce the marriage of their daughter, Carrie Mabel, to Mr. Michael Holden, of this city, on Tuesday morning, April 2, at 9 o'clock, in St. Dominic's Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Eshman have cards out for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Mary Christine Eshman, to Dr. Hale Hampton Atkinson. The wedding will take place at 1 o'clock, April 10, in the Luther Memorial Church. Miss Ethel Hockman will act as maid of honor and Dr. Thomas H. Atkinson will be the best man for his brother, Burnham Eshman, Dr. R. M. Ellyson, Charles Burnham, and Dr. George D. Vick, of Selma, N. C., will be the ushers.

Gen. William S. Shallenberger gave a dinner last night at his home in Mintwood place to the Canadian postmaster general, P. Memleux, and the party who are visiting Washington. The dinner was an informal one, at which there were no set speeches, but the guests were representative of the post-office departments of both countries. Those present were Mr. Memleux, R. G. Coulter, assistant postmaster general of Canada; C. W. Smith, chief clerk; James T. McCleary, who will be sworn in as Assistant Postmaster General to-day at 10 o'clock; Mr. Losche, Mr. Bacon, and Mr. Brooks.

The marriage of Frances Mahlon, daughter of Mrs. E. A. Paris, and Harry Blair Hanger will be celebrated Tuesday evening, April 9, at the home of the bride's mother, 140 Chapin street. After returning from their honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Hanger will live at the Denver.

The wedding of Miss Ernestine Herbert Rowland, granddaughter of Mrs. Ernest Herbert Stevens, and Lieut. George Lettwith Wertebaker, of the United States Artillery Corps, will take place at Fort Washington on April 11.

The engagement is announced of Miss Agnes Gray Kennedy, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Danbridge Kennedy, of Warren, Va., and Dr. William Beverly Mason, of this city.

Those who have engaged boxes for the performance to be given April 6, at the Belasco Theater, by the Paint and Powder Club, of Baltimore, for the benefit of the Christ Church Society, are Mrs. Gibson Fahnestock, Dr. and Mrs. Dudley Morgan, Mrs. Edward Simpson, Mme. Jerome Bonaparte, Mrs. George Mayne, Mrs. William Irving, Mrs. D. L. McCarty, Dr. and Mrs. Edward White, and Mrs. Emilie Montgomery.

Among those in the audience will be Mrs. Charles Carroll Lee, Miss Patten, Mrs. Henry May, Mrs. Arthur P. Davis, Mrs. Hannis Taylor, Mrs. Stephen B. Elkins, Mrs. Charles Walcott, Lady Isabella Howard, Miss Riggs, Mrs. Henry C. Perkins, Mrs. J. T. Story, Mrs. R. R. W. Olive Seward.

The patronesses are Mrs. Shaw, Mrs. Taft, Mrs. Bonaparte, Mrs. Garfield, Mrs. Carter, Mrs. William Cabot Lodge, Mrs. Gibson Perkins, Mrs. Philip Sheridan, Mrs. Muscard, Baroness Hengelmüller, Mme. de Blampre, and Mrs. John R. McLean.

Miss M. B. Thysen, who has been spending the winter in Canada, has returned to the Shoreham, but her stay in Washington will be brief, as she expects to sail for England within a few days.

ANNUAL PRIZE COMPETITION.

Contest for Three Gold Davis Medals Takes Place Tuesday Evening.

The programme has been completed for the annual Davis prize speaking at George Washington University, taking place in University Hall, Tuesday, April 2. This competition which is open to senior students of Columbian College, for three gold medals founded by the Hon. Isaac Davis, LL. D., of Massachusetts.

The committee of award this year will consist of Arthur T. Ramsey, James Sharp, and Stephen E. Kramer.

"The Men of the House of Bonaparte," Isabel Rhoda Capell.
"The Function of the Commonwealth," Mabel Lavina Scott.

Musical selections will be rendered by Harry Haxton, Campbell and James MacDermott Sheridan.

POPE SCHRADER HERE.

Leader of New Sect Calls on the President.

Pope Schrader, of the Divine Catholic Church, called on President Roosevelt yesterday to pay his respects. He told the President that his church differs from Roman Catholic only in so far as he allows the priests and the sisters to marry. He has taken up his headquarters in Washington for six months, during which time he will hold meetings to explain his doctrines.

The pope is emphatic in his opinions that the District should have the right of suffrage, and this will be the text of some of his speeches. He says that his church embraces two million people throughout the world.

Speculation seems to be the curse of men, both young and old. They are not content to devote their energies to simple business and live upon its profits.

Speculation is the side issue that speedily destroys peace of mind and often sweeps away the profits of the good business which should have been the mainstay of living. Even the boys are affected by it, and are unsettled, according to the statement of those who have to hire them. A provision dealer told me, yesterday, that never in his long experience has he been so bothered to get willing boy workers as at present.

He declares that the boys who ought to be learning the principles of some business and earning something toward their support prefer an idle life supported by a hard-working mother. In cases where they condescend to work they refuse to contribute a penny to the family purse, spending money as fast as they earn it on unnecessary clothes and amusement. "What kind of men can we expect from such beginnings?" he asked, and no answer was found for his question. The exceptional boy, patient and persistent, will amount to something worth while, but think of the multitude in the other class.

Parents already are accepting inability to round out the school year as a disease among children, without understanding the probable causes, lack of sufficient sleep, wholesome employment to exercise the muscles, and a life as free from excitement as can be managed under existing conditions of life. Early retiring hours are the exception rather than the rule among children, and both boys and girls are exempt from household duties which would really prove beneficial to them. An aimless existence is deadly to health of body and brain.

Heart failure is fearfully common, but do you believe that the sturdiest organ of the body refuses to do its duty till overpowered by enemies? Tonics and drugs are the common things of life, and the heart is alternately whipped into greater activity and lulled into a species of insensibility, because life has become irregular. You do not find much heart failure in the laboring class, where men and women follow their day's work with rest, simple recreation, and plenty of sleep. There is plenty of sickness in such families, but no brain fog and no nervous prostrations, so the doctors say.

SICK NOT FORGOTTEN

Donation Day at Emergency Hospital Fruitful.

RICH AND POOR CONTRIBUTE

Little Child Offers Bunch of Wild Flowers to Cheer Invalids—Grand Dames Bring Groceries in Fine Carriages and Less Fortunate Ones Lug Baskets of Provisions.

Donation day at the Emergency Hospital proved a fruitful one, and for the next week the invalids and attendants will be supplied with good things to eat, while the larders will be filled for some time to come.

It has long been the custom of the physicians at the institution to send out circulars requesting donations of various groceries, as well as utensils for the kitchen and housecleaning. This year, as usual, the number of responses was large and gratifying to the doctors, who spent most of the day yesterday in receiving large baskets and paper bags. Last year the paper bags were sent out, but this time a printed circular announced that donation day had come.

Lady Bountiful Arrives.

Early yesterday morning a splendid equipage from Dupont Circle, driven by a stiff-backed coachman, assisted by a man on the box, stopped in front of the hospital. In the carriage, besides a number of bags and baskets and bundles, sat a young lady of such appearance that the four young internes, who had been in the window-seat playing checkers, made a rush for the front door that they might receive the gifts from her. But the groans staggered to the hospital with pounds of sugar and tea, and coffee. The young doctors then formed themselves into a delegation to thank the young lady in person, which they did in profuse terms. When the carriage drove away one of them, an athlete, found himself the proud possessor of a bunch of violets, which he was charged to deliver to a sick room. Later in the afternoon it was found on the athlete. He wishes every day were donation day.

Constant Stream of Carriages.

Nor were the prancing horses of the young lady the only ones which stopped in front of the hospital yesterday. Later in the day there was a constant stream of carriages, all laden with donations. It was an unusual sight to see such handsome turn-outs laden with brooms, mops, tubs of evaporated peaches, and other staple commodities. One lone man on a horseback stopped at the hospital, left $10, and departed without a word.

But the donations of the charitable up-towners were by no means the most numerous or the greatest. From almost every grocery store of size in the city large gifts were sent, and the lettered wagons called so frequently during the afternoon that the storeroom of the hospital became uncomfortably filled, making it necessary for other places of safe-keeping to be found. Then, too, there came charitable women with large baskets, glad to rest a moment in the shade of the hospital after they had given their groceries.

Children Bring Their Mite.

Although the children were considerably in the minority, there were many of them who followed the goodness of their elders and brought flowers and money and fruit. One child, early in the afternoon, brought a bunch of wild flowers that she had picked herself, and although they were a trifle bedraggled, the gratitude expressed to her was no less than that to the largest donors.

Altogether 30 donations were received, and although some years have exceeded this number, everybody at the hospital was satisfied.

FROM WOMAN'S POINT OF VIEW.

We are warned on all sides against the dangers of lack of self-control, warned by the awful tragedy of almost daily occurrence, and those who draw lessons from them for the benefit of the public. How much we take these lessons to heart is not shown by results, for the business world is wasting the brain force of our men and the varied feminine interests are sadly affecting our women. We seem to have hung round the winds and the wise ones are shaking their heads over the harvest in store for us.

Speculation seems to be the curse of men, both young and old. They are not content to devote their energies to simple business and live upon its profits. Speculation is the side issue that speedily destroys peace of mind and often sweeps away the profits of the good business which should have been the mainstay of living. TO HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS.

Offer Made by Firm of S. Kann, Sons & Co.

"An important message to certain High School girls" is the caption of an announcement made by S. Kann, Sons & Co., which is said to be attracting much attention in educational circles. It is stated that the firm wants extra help on Saturdays only, and is prepared to offer inducements to ambitious students who would like to take up the work under advantageous conditions. The Messrs. Kann say they will pay the young people for their time, as well as give them the benefits of the training school for salespeople. They refer to "the widening, broadening influences of a great store," and request students to make personal application to the superintendent on the first floor of the Kann building, between 4 and 5:30 o'clock p. m. daily.

PLAY "DAS STIFTUNGSTEST."

Saengerbund Actors Give Final Performance of the Season.

For a wind-up of its theatrical season the dramatic section of the Saengerbund presented to a crowded house last night "Das Stiftungstest," a comedy in three acts, by Gustav von Moser, one of Germany's most celebrated playwrights. The various parts were enacted with an artistic rounding and effect which would have redounded to the credit of professionals. The cast consisted of Mesdames F. Carl and Lossau, Miss Margaret Meinhardt, and Messrs. S. Scourban, F. A. Rockar, G. H. Aschenbach, G. Pauls, Adolph Levy, William Hannemann, C. Bear, and R. Schwerdtner.

CABINET TO MEET TO-DAY.

Bonaparte Will Not Attend Because It is Good Friday.

Good Friday is not a legal holiday in the District of Columbia, and the business of the government is conducted as usual. Charles J. Bonaparte, the Attorney General, who called at the White House yesterday, said, however, that he would not attend the regular meeting of the Cabinet to-day, because of the fast day. Mr. Bonaparte is a devout Catholic.

Address by Justice Harlan.

Justice Harlan, of the United States Supreme Court, by request of the Bar Association of the District of Columbia, delivered an address last night at the George Washington University, on the life and times of George Mason. The eminent jurist traced the life of the great Virginian from his birth to his death, and dealt with interesting detail on Mason's immortal achievements in behalf of the freedom of this country and liberty for its people. The Justice of the District Supreme Court, Attorney General Bonaparte, Commissioner Macfarland, and Justice Hagner occupied the platform.
